Instant Journal

Take a few minutes to jot down some telling details about your child at this moment in time. He'll love hearing about himself as early as next week; you'll love having this for years to come.

What is your child's favorite task to help with? How does she help?

Write the names of all the people your child says love him.

Make a list of your child's favorite:

Make It Now

Have your child paint the heart below (with a brush, fingers, what have you) and then decorate it with glitter, tissue paper, or little hearts made with two of your child's index fingerprints (press fingers together at tips) and a nontoxic stamp pad. On top, paste a picture of your little valentine. Make a few limited-edition color copies for select refrigerators across the land. You keep the original.
