WHAT DOES DISNEY KNOW ABOUT ENGINEERING?

—Engineering College Program students at Walt Disney World® Resort have the opportunity to enroll in Professional Development Studies sessions which allow them to meet with Disney professionals and explore technical careers directly related to their majors.

—Walt Disney's Imagineering leads all the creative development, planning and construction efforts for all Disney theme parks, attractions, hotels and other facilities worldwide.

—The StarSpeeder 3000 ride vehicles on the Star Tours attraction are the same type of simulators used by the military in training pilots.

—Walt Disney's Imagineers worked with more than 25 space experts from NASA, including five astronauts, to capture the authentic feel of Mission: Space® Presented by HP. In total, it took more than 650 Walt Disney Imagineers more than 350,000 hours, over five years, to develop this attraction.

"My time on the College Program gave me an opportunity to see a backstage view of how the company runs, and to see the various business units work together to complete the show. It was also a chance to get that all-important 'foot in the door' and meet individuals who could assist me in my career path."

— Lori Cole, Ride & Show Audio/Video Engineering
