INSTRUCTIONS

1. Cut out the pictures of the scenes from Holes below.
There are pictures from two different storylines. One story follows Stanley Yelnats, and the other story follows his no-good-dirty-rotten-pig-stealing-great-great-grandfather, Elya Yelnats.
2. Put the pictures in order of what event came first, then second, third, and so on. This is known as putting them in chronological order.
3. Once you've placed the pictures in chronological order, get two blank pieces of paper. Glue one set of pictures, in the correct order, to the first piece of paper. Do the same with the other set of pictures on the second sheet of paper. Leave room at the top and bottom of the pages.
4. At the top of each page, write a title for the set of pictures.
5. Finally, write two to three sentences that describe what is happening in each storyline below each set of pictures. Remember to put your name on each picture.
