Reach Out to Readers with The Pinballs

Foster Compassion with a Powerful Yet Sensitive Drama Based on the book by Betsy Byars

There's no place home for 13-year old Carly, 11-year-old Harvey, and 8-year-old Thomas J. They've been bounced like pinballs from one foster home to the next, and collide uneasily in the Mason household. Each has endured abuse, neglect, and abandonment.

In this Classroom-Edition video from Disney Educational Productions, they learn how to finally stop ricocheting and help one another. Features a moving performance by Kristy McNichol as a headstrong teen who is finally won over by love.

Use The Pinballs to:

- Build student interest in young adult literature
- Bridge Language Arts and Guidance with characters students can relate to
- Safely explore themes of rejection and belonging
- Guide discussion of important real-life issues
- Motivate student responses through writing, research projects, discussion, and cross-curricular activities
