

The Civil Rights Movement Beyond Martin Luther King, Jr.

The character map is a good way to understand individuals. First, decide on which civil rights supporter you want to know more about. Three highlighted in the program are Malcolm X, Judge Frank Johnson, and Cesar Chavez. Once you have decided, write his name on top of the box below. As you watch the video, write four or five lines about the character from the program on the lines at left and write. Then, draw a simple picture of the individual followed by a sentence underneath the box that describes the person.

A diagram of a rectangular box with a central vertical line and three horizontal lines on each side, creating a symmetrical layout. The central vertical line divides the box into two equal halves. On each side, there are three horizontal lines, one near the top, one in the middle, and one near the bottom, creating a grid-like structure. The lines are thin and black, and the background is white.
