Here's What You Need to Play

Red and blue plastic cups (enough to make a lane for each player)

Large plastic jugs (1 per player)

1 Magic Marker

Common items that each hold about the same amount of water such as a measuring cup, ladle, and baster (1 for each player)

Here's How You Set Up the Game

Step 1: Use plastic cups to set up a lane for each player.

Step 2: At the end of each lane, place a large plastic jug or bottle.

Step 3: Use the magic marker to draw a "fill'er up here" mark on each jug or bottle.

Step 4: Place the tub of water at the starting line.

Here's How You Play

Beginning at the starting line, each player takes one of the common items and fills it with water from the tub.

The players then race down their separate lanes to the jug at the end of their lane.

Next, players empty the water from their common items into the jug. Once their common item is empty, the player must race back to the starting line, fill up their common item, and once again empty it into their tub.

The first person to fill their jug to the "Fill'er Up" line is the winner! And don't forget to clean up when you're all done.
